

The paintings are all nameless and the subject matter obscure.

The only unifying theme seems to be madness.

Today, the Black Paintings are housed at the Museo del Prado in Madrid.