

Goya took up painting in his teens. After a stint in Rome, he returned to Spain in 1775 as a young master with great potential.

